The Mahomedans have never, in fact, been at peace with the Armenians. Hatred of "infidel dogs" is a cardinal doctrine of faith with the followers of the prophet.

They have one point of agreement from which they never depart, and that is continued persistent effort to crowd the

"Giaour" from Turkish ground, no matter whether he be Christian, Hebrew or unbliever in faiths.

In short, the rule of the day in Turkey, though it may not be proclaimed upon the highways and in the cars of tourists, is "all but the followers of the crescent must go." In other words, if Turkey the patriotic cry is "Turkey for the Turks." A correspondent of the New York Tribune in a recent date, writing from Constantinople, says that the renoun-

Sultan Abdul Hamid has among his people rests mainly upon his adhesion to this doctrine.

This Sultan is more absolute now than has been any ruler in the domain since Mahmoud, nearly a century ago. He is imbued with the idea that the Turks are to be preserved as a distinct people in all territory occupied by or subject to them;

and that all others are to be expelled or become their servants.

In pursuance of this belief, he has steadily engaged in the displacement of Christian officials in all the provinces and has substituted for them orthodox Turks.

So far has he carried this work, that practically, Christian communities have Turkish dominions few official representatives, and these are only in minor offices.

There is but one American official now of the Sultan's Council, the Minister of Finance, and even he has recently been subjected to the indignity of having his house searched by the police, for discovery of alleged dyadic evidences.

The animosity to the Christian is evident on all hands.

A Christian can scarcely get a hearing in a Turkish court, and the Magistrates strain every point to exonerate Mahomedan offenders against Christians. Turkish bandit infest the highways, but are careful to rob and kill only "infidel dogs," and they thus escape, as a rule, the feeble pursuit of Turkish officers. A Christian witness against a Turkish highwayman has no standing in court, and even in civil actions, Christians are unfortunate indeed who cannot produce

Mahomedan witnesses in support of their causes.

All the school inspectors are Moslems, and of course open to their harried of the schools of the Christians. Christian print of all kinds must go through Turkish Censors' hands, and Christians are taxed more heavily for support of Moslem schools for maintenance of their own. The name of the Sultan is extolled at all places and times, and woe to the Christian who, even by look, expresses dislike for it.

In short, the Christian in any of the provinces of Turkey has long been the object of petty persecutions, and now his rights as a man are being gradually stripped from him. It is not surprising, therefore, that the Armenian demand for the appointment of Armenian Assistant Governors should produce trouble. To grant the request would be to reverse the policy of the Sultan and endanger his throne. In refusing, therefore, he has gone to the extreme of firing the religious intolerance of his Mahomedan subjects by justifying, secretly, at least, assaults upon Christians by Turks and Circassians and Kurds, the two last raiding villages and destroying property and life with weapons furnished from the Sultan's own army. The Armenians in consequence, are up in arms and just as soon as some leader fit for the occasion arises, we shall hear of the Christian and the Turk more open and extraordinarily cruel war, and the Crescent will be bound bearing down the Cross

—for unless European nations interfere, or Russia comes to the rescue, the Armenians will be trodden down and exterminated, if possible.

CAPTAIN BURTON.

The death of Sir Richard Burton, the famous Irish explorer and man of letters is a loss to the entire world. Burton was one of the most remarkable men of the age. From early childhood the spirit of adventure and discovery was manifest in him. He antagonized the disposition of his family to fit him for the church, and chose instead the army. He entered the service a mere boy and rose to be an officer on the staff of Napier. He possessed a natural aptitude for linguistic study and in a few years was accomplished in Hindustani, Persian, Turkish, Arabic and a dozen other of the languages and dialects of Asia and Africa. He became, indeed, proficient in twenty-nine languages, exclusive of dialects.

Among Burton's other accomplishments he was an expert swordsman, a fine shot, an unapproachable horseman, and a splendid athlete. He began to make explorations early in the fifties, and more probably, than any man of his age influenced strange and semi-barbarous peoples to adopt civilization in whole or in part. He possessed the rare faculty of ingratiating himself with tribes unapproachable by others, and of winning over savage and half-civilized peoples and of acquiring their language. This gave him wonderful power over them, which he invariably used for their betterment. He left his explorations on several occasions to serve his country in her battles. With Speke he made in 1856 the famous expedition to the Great Lakes of Central Africa, and subsequently traveled in South America to some extent. England employed him in various perilous and trustworthy enterprises and expeditions and he filled a number of important posts, being at the time of his death English Consul at Trieste. He was the author of many valuable works.

It is to be said that England scarcely rewarded Burton as his great services merited. He deserved from that country in his old age honors and trusts far superior to the rather common official station in which he died.

SUNSHINE AT HOME.

Marvin Says She Will Beat Her Record

This Year.

(S.F. Call, October 21st)

A young woman from the Bay District track yesterday would not lead a casual visitor to the conclusion that there were any race horses, either trotters, pacers or runners, there. An air of solitude seemed to pervade the track, but the horses were not to be found. Not even dead at the track's entrance.

A further investigation showed that some sixty horses are now quartered there in comfortable stalls. Among them is the second best of the turf, the Palo Alto wonder, Sunol.

Many reports have been current ever since Marvin's arrival that she was very gaunt and showed the effects of her Eastern campaign. That all depends upon how one looks at her and with what kind of spectacles.

As seen, when stripped in her stall yesterday, Sunol never looked better in her life. It will be remembered that when she went to the 10th floor of the Bank Building, track, her coat was lustreless, owing to her having been clipped early in the day at the suggestion of some friends of Marvin, who thought it would increase her chances of success. But the result was that Sunol never looked better in her life than she did at the track's entrance.

It is to be said that Marvin's arrival has been most perfect. She is a true and genuine racing horse, and the public can be assured that she will be a credit to the track.

It is to be hoped that Marvin will be a credit to the track, and that the public can be assured that she will be a credit to the track.

KITE-SHAPED TRACKS.

RACING MEN AS A RULE ARE OPPOSED TO THEM.

Secretary Smith of the State Agricultural Society Gives His Views on the Subject.

Discussion of the merits of the kite-shaped race-track is warming up all over the United States, and this same discussion is developing the fact that horsemen and racing men as a rule are opposed to the new idea. Breeders, however, favor it—that is, a certain class of them.

The New York Spirit of the Times has some good article and some kite-shaped track and substances invited all noted horse and racing experts of the country to communicate their opinions on the matter.

Communications that come from racing men as a rule, as before mentioned, oppose the "new-fangled thing." What has the kite-shaped track to recommend it? Just this, that the open track is about one-half mile in length; an ordinary track is almost sure to go a 2½ or 3 miles or more over a kite track—a great saving in time and expense.

It is true that the kite-shaped track is a great class for some race, or where one 2½ performer will make a family standard. They do not care to have a race at a distance of from two to six seconds in trotting over the kite track in place of the ordinary track.

It is also true that the kite-shaped track to all the old records.

Another objection set forth is that the public or racing public will be pleased that they can see a race over a regular track. The time at the quarter and three-quarter points can be easily taken. It is true that a horse cannot be distinguished a greater part of the mile, and many other little traits are pointing to the kite-shaped track.

Edwin F. Smith, of this city, Secretary of the San Joaquin Agricultural Society, writes to his friends in the new track. In his letter to the Spirit, dated October 9, he says:

CHARLEY MAY FEEL SAD.

A Charlie May, who is a well-known Captain of a racing team, was at Sacramento yesterday evening to see the new track. He was invited to the new track.

The horseman of the day, who is a fast track, does not always do well with all compassions but will have a tendency to lessen the interest in to have it made, not dull, interest there.

In my own case I note the lack of interest in the new track, and the result is that Morris Park's. The time made is misleading and befriends one.

The reporter—graph news, no mention is made of the course used, and only those familiar understand the time being so fast. The new track is in 1:09, five furlongs in 59 seconds, and so on. No attempt is made to express the time in words. The casual observer meets you and remarks about the wonderful accuracy of the new track, and the like.

I make no attempt to keep track records, and the like, not giving credit to the real cause. The credit is misplaced. Something after the trotter attempts to detract from California's advantages of climate and feed, and takes that accomplished so much.

"Out of this comes the question of the animals that accomplish so much."

"The nearer to the eye you bring a performance the more interesting it becomes. We have the best horses in the world, with the start and finish only? Who that pays to see a trotting race does not enjoy watching the horses? The horses are clean and neat in the manner in which the mile was done?" With eagerness and crowds wait each hold and the audience could not believe that the game was lost, and when the winning run was scored a shout.

We played in the hardest kind of track, all through, knocking on the seemingly safe. The horsemen of the day, who are the best, say to admit them before this innovation?

"Out of this comes the question of the part of kite-shaped track in the future, and the like. The question to consider, and that is the admission-paying, sightseeing public. Are not the supporters of the kite-shaped track, the like?"

Interestings Paper Read Before the Convention on National Building.

Washington, October 22.—The annual convention of the American Institute of Architects began today. The attendance is very encouraging, representing all the principal cities in America. Interesting and valuable reports will be presented, and papers read before the convention during the week. The reports of the various sections will be read to-day, chiefly devoted to preliminary matters.

The president of the Institute was unable to be present on account of illness, and his report was read by one of the Directors. In it, he said that the Institute had been greatly gratified by the Archit's office of the Treasury, who said that while the work is generally well done, there is a want of uniformity in the reports of the various sections. He also said that any one person can do justice to the present requirements of the office. The present report is to be made to the Secretary of the Treasury by the members of the Institute, and it is natural to attribute the perpetuation of it to political jobberies or influences. The members of the Institute are bound to the Government, and it would be better and more economically served."

LEVED THERE WILL BE THREE PERMANENT BOARDS OF EXAMINATION, TO MEET IN WASHINGTON, CHICAGO AND SAN FRANCISCO TWICE OR THREE TIMES A YEAR, AND THAT THE MEMBERSHIP OF THESE BOARDS WILL BE SO GRADED AS ARE LIKELY TO RECEIVE PROMOTION WITHIN THE YEAR. THE PURPOSE OF THE ACT OF CONGRESS IS TO MAKE THE ARCHITECTURE OF THE COUNTRY SO MORAL OR PHYSICALLY DISQUALIFIED FOR THE SERVICE, SO THAT PROMOTIONS MAY GO NO FASTER THAN IS DESIRED.

ASSISTANT ENGINEER Hibbs has been ordered from duty at the Union Iron Works to San Francisco to take charge of the course of study in naval architecture at Glasgow, Scotland, and Naval Constructors Bankson and Street have been ordered to special duty at San Francisco, and ordered home.

MIL KORE.

EXPERTS SENT OUT TO ASCERTAIN THE CAPACITY OF BRANDY DISTILLERS.

Washington, October 22.—The Chief of the Ordnance Bureau of the Navy Department is giving attention to the procurement of nickel or matted steel for the manufacture of barrels. A representative of the firms which deal in this ore and metal has been in contact with the Bureau, and it is believed that the exact capacity of our domestic nickel works, several competent steel experts have been engaged to ascertain the cost of the material. The Country, Chief of the Ordnance Bureau, intends to ascertain the possibilities of naval construction, as well as in the manufacture of armor plate, in which it already has made some progress. A series of tests is to be made at Washington Navy Yard, a series of tests which will include proof trials of armor plate, and the new armor, as well as the usual test of elasticity, strength, etc.

Decision on Tariff Duties.

Washington, October 22.—Assistant Secretary of War Spangler has issued a circular to the commanding officers of all regiments in the service, directing them to make a full report of the number of brandy distilleries to which they may be liable to pay tax on spirits produced at their distilleries, and to use only brandy in their rations. It is to be understood that the limitations of Act of last, and supervision of your officers, who will make and present a full report of the number of brandy distilleries for whom you should show whether tax became due on the spirits used, on or about the 1st of July.

(Signed) JOHN W. MASON, Collector.

After careful consideration, I construe this to mean that brandy produced by distillers may now be used in the fortification of sweet wines, so far as tax is concerned.

It is to be further instructed that brandy distillers to pay tax on spirits produced at their distilleries, and to use only brandy in their rations. It is to be understood that the limitations of Act of last, and supervision of your officers, who will make and present a full report of the number of brandy distilleries for whom you should show whether tax became due on the spirits used, on or about the 1st of July.
